

Proposed Right to Addiction Recovery (Scotland) Bill

Introduction

A proposal for a Bill to enable people addicted to drugs and/or alcohol to access the necessary addiction treatment they require.

The consultation runs from 7 October 2021 to 12 January 2022.

All those wishing to respond to the consultation are strongly encouraged to enter their responses electronically through this survey. This makes collation of responses much simpler and quicker. However, the option also exists of sending in a separate response (in hard copy or by other electronic means such as e-mail), and details of how to do so are included in the member's consultation document.

Questions marked with an asterisk (*) require an answer.

All responses must include a name and contact details. Names will only be published if you give us permission, and contact details are never published – but we may use them to contact you if there is a query about your response. If you do not include a name and/or contact details, we may have to disregard your response.

Please note that you must complete the survey in order for your response to be accepted. If you don't wish to complete the survey in a single session, you can choose "Save and Continue later" at any point. Whilst you have the option to skip particular questions, you must continue to the end of the survey and press "Submit" to have your response fully recorded.

Please ensure you have read the consultation document before responding to any of the questions that follow. In particular, you should read the information contained in the document about how your response will be handled. The consultation document is available here:

We will not publish these details.

Aim and Approach - Note: All answers to the questions in this section may be published (unless your response is "not for publication").

Q1. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposed Bill?

Fully opposed

Please explain the reasons for your response. We would welcome comments on any experience you have had of accessing, or trying to access, addiction treatment.

I think it is a waste of time, will be a law with no meaningful impact, it's not thought through properly, just virtue signalling and token gesture.

Q2. Do you think legislation is required, or are there other ways in which the proposed Bill's aims could be achieved more effectively? Please explain the reasons for your response.

I think there are other ways like increasing capacity, people have to WANT to get treatment, it's no use saying in law they MUST or are ENTITLED or GUARANTEED treatment. It also needs to be treated as a health emergency and not a criminal one. Drug laws need to be devolved so Scotland can best tackle our issues our way. Not with silly token gesture laws from a party that doesn't understand the core issue.

Q3. How do you think the right to treatment established in the Bill would be most effectively implemented and enforced? Tick all options that apply.

Please explain the reasons for your response.

I don't think there is any meaningful or effect way in enforcing or measuring it. People have to want treatment and that starts by destigmatising addiction

Q4. Which of the following best expresses your view of creating a specific complaints procedure, in addition to the existing NHS complaints procedure?

Fully opposed

Please explain the reasons for your response. We would welcome comments on any experience you have had with the existing NHS complaints procedure.

If there is already a complaints procedure there is no merit in creating another exactly the same.

Q5. Which of the following best expresses your view of allowing those suffering from addiction to choose a preferred treatment option, and for them to receive that option unless deemed harmful by a medical professional?

Partially opposed

Please explain the reasons for your response. We would welcome suggestions about how this could work in practice.

I agree to an extent. People may or may not know what is the best treatment option for them and they may just take the least effort or least bothersome one just to look like they are getting help rather than an option that will fully help them

Q6. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposed Bill seeking to prevent treatment being refused?

Fully opposed

Please explain the reasons for your response. We would welcome suggestions about how this could work in practice.

I can hardly imagine any situation where treatment would be refused other than if person is violent and abusive so this seems irrelevant

Q7. Which of the following best expresses your view of requiring the Scottish Government to establish a national funding scheme?

Fully opposed

Please explain the reasons for your response.

The Scottish government already pay for health, this comes under health, so I don't understand why Douglas Ross is proposing this

Financial Implications

Q8. Taking into account all those likely to be affected (including public sector bodies, businesses and individuals etc), is the proposed Bill likely to lead to:

a significant increase in costs

Please indicate where you would expect the impact identified to fall (including public sector bodies, businesses and individuals etc). You may also wish to suggest ways in which the aims of the Bill could be delivered more cost-effectively.

It will waste resources, as I said before, work needs to be done on destigmatising addiction, making services more accessible, increasing capacity. Not an arbitrary "guarantee or right". There's not a person in the NHS or government who would deny anyone the treatment they need

Equalities

Q9. What overall impact is the proposed Bill likely to have on equality, taking account of the following protected characteristics (under the Equality Act 2010): age, disability, gender re-assignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation?

Neutral (neither positive nor negative)

Sustainability

Q10. In terms of assessing the proposed Bill's potential impact on sustainable development, you may wish to consider how it relates to the following principles:

- living within environmental limits
- ensuring a strong, healthy and just society
- achieving a sustainable economy
- promoting effective, participative systems of governance
- ensuring policy is developed on the basis of strong scientific evidence.

With these principles in mind, do you consider that the Bill can be delivered sustainably?

No

Please explain the reasons for your response.

It's not based on scientific evidence at all

General

Q11. Do you have any other additional comments or suggestions on the proposed Bill (which have not already been covered in any of your responses to earlier questions)?

Aims can be achieved through other means. It's a token gesture publicity stunt to of a bill and won't actually help those in need.
